PRESS RELEASE

Medical Education Online (MEO) to be published by Co-Action Publishing

11 December 2009, Stockholm: Co-Action Publishing is pleased to announce that Medical Education Online (MEO) joins the publisher's portfolio as of today.

Medical Education Online (MEO) was launched in 1996 as the first ever freely available online journal in the field of medical education and has grown to become a highly ranked source of information in this area of medicine, with indexing in PubMed/MEDLINE and inclusion in PubMed Central. Since its inception MEO has disseminated peer reviewed information on the education and training of physicians and other health care professionals. From 1996-2009 the journal has been self-published by Scholar Publisher and Chief Editor David Solomon of Michigan State University and more recently Co-Editor Ann Frye, University of Texas Medical Branch.

Chief Editor David Solomon is extremely pleased MEO is being published by Co-Action Publishing. "Having worked with Caroline Sutton over the last two years advocating for open access publishing and more recently with Anne Bindslev and Lena Wistrand in transferring the publication process to Co-Action, I have been very impressed not only with their commitment to OA publishing but also the quality and professionalism of Co-Action's publication process. Joining Co-Action will significantly improve the quality of the journal as well as free up Ann Frye and I to focus more closely on what we do best, the editorial process."

Publisher Caroline Sutton feels honored that the MEO team called upon Co-Action Publishing to assume publishing activities for the title, "David Solomon and I have worked closely together over the last two years with the launch of the Open Access Scholarly Publishers Association and have held workshops on OA publishing for scholar publishers, among other things. I have a tremendous respect for David and I know how much work and dedication he and Ann Frye have put into developing a high quality journal. My colleagues and I look forward to working with them to carry forward their achievements."

Plans for 2010 include an expansion of the editorial board to reflect the global reach of the journal and the introduction of a new section on an emerging sub-area within medical education to be announced during the spring.
